It's Delaware AG Week

New to the Farm this year is Toby Hagerott with his Against the Grain farm. Many know Toby from his vegetable and fruit offerings by the Town Hall during the summer months.

He reports the construction on greenhouse is underway at new location. The beginning of a new year is upon us. Delaware Agriculture Week is this week.

For a PDF of the ▶ Delaware Ag Program Book 2016.

Toby will be part of a CSA panel discussion at AG Week this year. His move of the farm is complete. The greenhouse will start going up with the high tunnel soon after.

Starting to get excited for the year. The new website is up and looking great! Learn more at www.atg.farm

A hopeful scene at Penn Farm in New Castle. Almost trademark sunflowers greet passerby's as seen through the lens of Michael McGrath. The historic farm is unique in that it's only urban farm in the country that has been continuously farmed for over 300 years. The farm utilizes sustainable farming practices with an emphasis on organic farming methods and modern farming technologies on a small scale.

Slow-Roasted, Twice-Fried PORTERHOUSE STEAK

Cobble wouldn't tell you to score, season, chill, freeze, fry, slow roast, baste, and re-fry a steak if it wasn't worth it.

Really It Tis!

Fixin's for 4

- ✓ 1 2-inch-thick bone-in porterhouse steak (about 3 lbs)
- ✓ 1 tbsp kosher salt
- ✓ 1 tbsp light brown sugar
- ✓ ½ tsp cayenne pepper
- ✓ Rice bran oil or vegetable oil (for frying; about 4 cups)
- ✓ 4 tbsps unsalted butter
- ✓ 1 tsp

vadouvan, masala, or spice mix of choice

Gettin' prepped

- ✓ Score steak ¼" deep over all surfaces in a crosshatch pattern, making cuts 1" apart.
- ✓ Mix salt, brown sugar, and cayenne in a small bowl and rub all over steak, massaging into score marks and crevices.
- ✓ Upend steak on the flat side of the bone on a wire rack set inside a rimmed baking sheet and chill overnight. This will dry out the meat and intensify the flavor of the rub.
- ✓ Then freeze (still upright) until solid, at least 6 hours and up to 24 hours.
- ✓ Preheat oven to 200°. Pour rice bran oil or vegetable oil into a 12" skillet, preferably cast iron, to a depth of ¾".
- ✓ Oil should be deep enough to come halfway up side of steak; add a little more oil to skillet if ya got a thick one for me!
- ✓ Heat oil over medium-high until probe thermometer registers 350°
- ✓ Transfer steak straight from freezer to skillet and cook, turning once, until deeply browned all over and a crisp crust has formed, about 3 minutes per side.
- ✓ Transfer steak back to rack on baking sheet (reserve skillet and oil) and roast in oven until no longer frozen (the interior will still be cold but thawed enough to allow the insertion of the probe thermometer), 30-35 minutes.
- ✓ Meanwhile, cook butter in a small saucepan over medium heat until it foams, then browns, 5-8 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in vadouvan.
- ✓ Let cool, 20-25 minutes. Strain through a fine-mesh sieve into a small bowl; discard solids.
- ✓ Remove steak from oven and spoon one-third of spice-infused butter over, making sure to coat both sides. Poke thermometer probe in the center of the strip side and roast steak, basting every 30 minutes or so with remaining butter, until thermometer registers 120°, 1-1½ hours.
- ✓ Alternatively, use an instant-read thermometer to check steak every 15 minutes after the first hour, and every 5 minutes after 1½ hours. Once thawed, the temperature of the steak will rise about 1 degree a minute.
- ✓ Remove steak from oven. Reheat reserved oil in skillet back to 350° over medium-high. Fry steak a second time, turning once, until a deeply browned crust forms on all sides, about 2 minutes per side.
- ✓ Transfer back to rack and let rest 10 minutes. (Frying again will re-crisp your crust, lock in juices, and develop more flavor.)
- ✓ Use a thin knife to carve along both sides of the bone to remove strip and filet; cut into 1½"-thick slices. Arrange on a platter alongside bone. Pour any butter and juices that have accumulated in baking sheet over top. watch the video here.
