the how to do

In a large bowl, whisk together the buttermilk and hot sauce. Add the chicken pieces and submerge in the buttermilk. Transfer to the refrigerator and marinate for at least 6 hours.

When you're ready to cook the chicken, line two baking sheets with wire cooling racks.

In a large bowl, whisk together the flour, garlic powder, salt, black pepper, cayenne, Old Bay, paprika and onion powder. Transfer to a large, heavy-duty paper bag.

Remove the chicken from the buttermilk, allowing any excess to drain off. Place the chicken pieces in the bag with the flour. Clasp the bag at the top and vigorously shake the bag to completely coat the chicken with the flour. Remove the chicken from the bag, tap off excess flour, and transfer to one of the prepared baking sheets. Let rest for 15 minutes.

As the chicken is resting, fill a large cast iron skillet one third of the way up the sides with melted shortening or peanut oil. Place the pot over medium to medium-high heat and bring the oil to 325°. Monitor the oil's temperature using a fryer or candy thermometer.

When the oil is hot, add the legs and thighs of the chicken first, placing them around the sides of the skillet. Cook for 2 to 3 minutes before adding the breasts and the wings. Cover the skillet with a wire splatter screen to prevent excess grease from adhering to your kitchen surfaces. Fry, flipping occasionally, until the internal temperature of the chicken reaches 165° - 10 to 15 minutes.

When the chicken has finished cooking, transfer to the second prepared baking sheet and let rest for 10 minutes before serving.

the makings are

- 4 cups buttermilk
- 1/2 cup hot sauce
- 1 (3½ lb) chicken, cut into 8 pieces
- 8 cups all-purpose flour
- 1/4 cup garlic powder
- 3 tbsps salt
- 1 tbsp freshly ground black pepper
- 1 tbsp cayenne pepper
- 1 tbsp Old Bay seasoning
- 1 tbsp sweet paprika
- 1 tsp onion powder
- Vegetable shortening or peanut oil, for frying

A rich, chocolatey, and gloriously boozy.

It's the perfect snow day treat for adults!

Goodies

- 2/3 up semisweet chocolate chips
- 2/3 cup dry red wine (merlot, shiraz, cabernet sauvignon)
- 1/2 cup milk • 1/2 cup half and half • 2 tbsps sugar • Pinch of salt
- 1/2 tsp vanilla extract

Here's to makin' it

Combine the chocolate chips, wine, milk, half, and half and sugar (if using), in a small saucepan over medium-low heat. Heat, stirring constantly, until chocolate chips are melted and the mixture is hot.

Remove from heat and stir in the vanilla and salt. Pour into mugs and serve

Zest on a little bit of orange or clementine peel just before serving to really take this drink over the top!

New Castle Library Friends' Annual Meeting

The New Castle Library Friends' Annual Meeting will be held on Thursday, January 25th. A light meal of chili, soups, salad, and desserts will be available at 6:00, followed by a short meeting and then Tales Tombstones Tell, a program presented by Ed Okonowicz, a native of Delaware.

Mr. Okonowicz has written more than two dozen books on Delmarva and Maryland folklore, oral history, regional culture, crime and ghost stories.

From the tombstone carved in the shape of the state of Delaware to the 'Remember Me As Thou Stands by' marker, Delaware's cemeteries record our history and reflect our ever-changing modern world. The Tales Tombstones Tell program, accompanied by color and black and white images, presents Delaware's history, culture, and major historical figures and events through grave markers. The talk examines tombstone architecture and interesting inscriptions and shows how permanent memorials reflect individual tastes and specific historical periods.

This evening is a members-only meeting, but annual membership can be obtained at the door ($10 individual /$25 family). Please RSVP at the library or at nclibraryfriends@gmail.com.

Hope to see you all there.

Last Sunday would have been Linda O'Day's 65th birthday. She was murdered in her apartment at 129 E. 3rd street in Old New Castle on June 1st 1981. She was 28 years old. She was with friends at the Booth House on 3rd street that evening after working her two jobs. She worked as a secretary at the Delaware State Hospital and at the McDonalds on Dupont Hwy. Her murder has never been solved. The case is currently the responsibility of the Delaware State Police.

It's a weird year

This year, Easter Sunday lands on April 1, which is also famously known as April Fools Day, when people play pranks on relatives, friends, co-workers, and the world at large. Ash Wednesday therefore falls on February 14, which is also observed as Valentine's Day (or Saint Valentine's Day), originally a Christian feast day honoring one or more early saints and now a secular occasion for lovers to express their affection for each other (particularly by exchanging greeting cards).

Easter, the most important holiday on the Christian calendar, commemorates the resurrection of Jesus from the dead after his crucifixion by the Romans, as described in the New Testament. Easter is preceded by an approximately six-week period (46 days) of fasting, prayer, and penance referred to as Lent, which begins on Ash Wednesday (during which ashes are ceremonially applied to the foreheads of Christians to "signify an inner repentance.")

The date of Easter varies from year to year, generally falling on the Sunday following the Paschal Full Moon (i.e., the first full moon of Spring in the northern hemisphere, or the first full moon occurring after the date of the vernal equinox). The earliest calendar date on which Easter can fall is March 22, and the latest date is April 25. Since Ash Wednesday is observed 46 days before Easter, it can fall as early as February 4 or as late as March 10.

This confluence of religious and secular days hasn't occurred since 1956, but we won't have to wait another 62 years to experience it again: Easter Sunday will next fall on April 1st in 2029, and then again in 2040. Snopes
