The bridge came down

from The Gazette January 12th 34 years ago

The dilapidated, two-lane Sixth St. Bridge on Route 9 near New Castle is scheduled to be torn down this week as part of the $12 million project currently underway by the State Department of Transportation, Division of Highway's Plans call for a reinforced, four-lane bridge and roadway to be completed by June 15, 1983. But, according to Eugene Moore, site superintendent for contractor James Julian, Inc. of Elsmere, the reconstruction could take longer. "It's going to be difficult to meet that June deadline," said Moore. "We're about two months behind in our construction sequence." Although his 20-man crew started last November 17, Moore blamed the extension on initial delays in re-routing electric and utility lines, forcing a shutdown until January. The old bridge, already cracked from age in spots, will be dismantled this Thursday or Friday. Moore said "It deteriorated to a point where you couldn't walk across, let alone drive across." Increased traffic, especially school buses and large trucks, contributed to the wear. The construction company will try to avoid conventional demolition techniques such as explosives or a wrecking ball. According to Thomas Brown, office manager for James Julian, they will opt for a new sonic vibration technique that uses sound waves to crack and crumble the concrete structure in a less dangerous manner. The 40-foot wide overpass will be replaced by an 80-foot wide, 200-foot long structure that will "look like an ordinary road on the exterior, but will actually be supported by a number of cast-in-place pilings," the supervisor said. Blueprints indicate that about 13 steel and concrete pilings, driven 60 to 80 feet deep, will support the four-lane bridge. The total length of the project is set at 1,725 feet, designed for 35 mile-per-hour traffic. About 2,780 cubic yards of concrete and tons of steel from local contractor Taylor-Davis, Inc. will be used in the construction. Brown said that the finished bridge section will include sidewalks, parapets, a median strip, and a new water pipeline along one outside wall. Other stages in the construction sequence include relocation of electric, gas and telephone lines and resurfacing the area with several types of soil, grass, and gravel, and the building and the removal of an alternate route through the city of New Castle. Motorists, both curious and annoyed at the situation since the "Detour-Bridge Out" signs were placed in November should get some satisfaction this week. However, when they look out at progress...

Sixth St Brigden falling down!

and Banks Building is gone!

On this foggy Saturday in January a landmark came down. Under scrutiny for years of reconstruction engineers and City budget number crunchers... this gathering place for generations, no matter the weather, fell to the claws of the back hoe and a massive dumpster. More next week!

on Thurs., January 26, at 6:30 p.m., in the Community Room of the New Castle Public Library for our Annual Meeting, followed by a program on Alexander Hamilton from the Delaware Humanities Forum. The story is told using some of the videos and music from the Broadway musical, "Hamilton: An American Musical" and fills in where the musical leaves some historic gaps. The event is free and open to the public and will also include ry night and warm up with some soup, an entertaining presentation, and learn about the exciting work the Friends are doing to support valuable programs and services for the local community.

Harry –
I think I've just understood something! I've got to go to the library!"
"What does she understand?" said Harry distractedly; still looking around, trying to tell where the voice had come from.
"Loads more than I do," said Ron, shaking his head.
"But why's she got to go to the library?"
"Because that's what Hermione does," said Ron, shrugging.
"When in doubt, go to the library."

– J.K. Rowling, Harry Potter and the Chamber of Secrets

January 22, 2017

Dear Readers,

When in doubt, go to the library. In today's uncertain world, it is refreshing to know you have an outlet where you can do research, gather facts, and expand your understanding. A place where you can stimulate your mind. This is what books and information do for us, and the place is our very own New Castle Public Library.

In 2016, as a result of generous contributions from the Library Friends, we were able to support many resources that benefited the community. We contributed to valuable programs the library offers including LEGO, quilting, PAWS, and "Library After-Hours" events that help attract new audiences of library patrons. We established a literacy initiative and funded books and resources for the volunteers and their students. We enhanced resources for children in particular, purchasing new learning computers and new book collections. We also continue to fully fund the digitization of The Weekly, our local newspaper, making all issues accessible and searchable.

January is Membership Month and the time to renew your Library Friends membership or consider becoming a Friend. Dues continue to be the major source of our funds. A basic membership is just $10/year ($15 family) and is open to anyone. In return, you receive a regular newsletter, information about upcoming events, discounts to Friends' social events throughout the year, and recognition for supporting a great cause.

To join or renew, please visit the New Castle Public Library or visit newcastlelibraryfriends.org

On behalf of the New Castle Library Friends, we wish you the very best for a happy and healthy New Year. Remember—when in doubt, go to the library.

Warm regards,

Kelly Koczak McCurdy
President, New Castle Library Friends

choco-hoto-pots

There is no dietary defense for the choco-hoto-pots: they're just good. Think ponds of molten chocolate sauce enclosed in chewy-topped, dense chocolate sponge

besides butter for the ramekins you're gonna need

¾ cup semisweet chocolate chips • 1 stick (4 ounces) unsalted butter • 2 large eggs
• ¾ cup superfine sugar
3 tbsp Italian 00 flour (see note) or all-purpose flour
½ cup white chocolate (or please keep it all chocolate) chips ready....?

- 1) Place baking sheet in 400° oven. Butter four 2/3-cup ramekins and set aside.
- 2) Using a microwave oven or double boiler, melt together the semisweet chocolate and the butter. Set aside to cool.
- 3) In a separate bowl, combine eggs, sugar and flour. Add cooled chocolate mixture, and mix until blended. Fold in white chips.
- 4) Divide mixture evenly among ramekins and place on baking sheet. Bake until tops are shiny and cracked and chocolate beneath is hot and gooey, about 20 minutes. Place each ramekin on a small plate with a teaspoon and serve, reminding children and significant others that ramekins and chocolate are hot.

AVIATION

A maraschino liqueur sounds a bit obscure but it's often hiding in plain sight. Seek it for this simple, classic cocktail.

INGREDIENTS

- ★ 2 ounces London dry gin
- ★ ¾ ounce fresh lemon juice
- ★ ¾ ounce maraschino liqueur
- ★ Maraschino cherry (for serving)

THE PREP

Combine gin, lemon juice, and maraschino liqueur in a cocktail shaker. Fill shaker with ice, cover, and shake vigorously until outside of shaker is very cold, about 20 seconds. Place cherry in a martini glass and strain cocktail through a strainer or a slotted spoon into glass.
