Sixty-four people signed in at the City/DelDOT presentation. For a long time, it seems, there has been finger pointing between the City and State officials of whose responsibility is this and that.

Cobblestones learned that a City Council member met with DelDOT members, Sen. Poore, and Chief Rogers later and agreed to work on many sticking points. A lot of meaningful points of common interests were discussed. A main concern is the hazardous material being trucked through the city, mainly Dobbinsville and Washington St., as a safety issue besides traffic concerns.

Look for positive solutions in the near future.
