CHOCOLATE DIRT

PUDDING POTS

TED COOKS

Whoever came up with the idea of using crushed chocolate cookies to simulate dirt on food is a complete genius!

GET THIS STUFF TOGETHER

- ~ 1/2 cup plus 1 tbsp granulated sugar, divided
- ~ 2/3 cup (2 oz) cocoa powder
- ~ 4 tbsps cornstarch
- ~ 1/8 tsp salt
- ~ 4 cups whole milk
- ~ 2 large eggs
- ~ 6 oz bittersweet chocolate, finely chopped
- ~ 1 tbsp unsalted butter
- ~ 1/2 tsp pure vanilla extract
- ~ 9 oz chocolate cookies (see note above)
- ~ Mint sprigs for garnish
- ~ Basil sprigs for garnish

NOW THE MAKING

- ① In medium bowl, whisk 1/2 cup sugar, cocoa, cornstarch, and salt. Place in large saucepan and whisk in milk until combined. Heat over medium heat until scalding, stirring occasionally.
- ② In medium bowl, whisk eggs with remaining tbsp sugar. Whisk about 1 cup hot milk mixture into eggs then whisk eggs and milk back into remaining milk in pot. Heat, whisking constantly until mixture just comes to boil. Remove from heat and whisk in chocolate, butter, and vanilla until smooth. Transfer pudding to large bowl, cover with plastic wrap, and chill until set, about 4 hours.
- ③ While pudding is chilling, process cookies in food processor until finely ground. Reserve 3/4 cup crumbs and set aside.
- ④ When ready to assemble, start by spooning about 1/3 cup pudding mixture into each glass. Divide unreserved cookie crumbs amongst glasses, and then top with remaining pudding. Top each glass with reserved crumbs. Garnish by placing small sprigs of herbs into top of each glass. MORE CHOCOLATE

the preferred drink of royalty

Queen Elizabeth has been known to throw back a golden goblet or two and even maintains a favorite mead recipe made with rosemary, thyme, bay leaves and sweet briar. And King Midas with his golden touch? His tomb was discovered in Turkey and revealed the remains of the king's funeral feast. Guess what was found in the ancient drinking cups: sweet mead residue.

the oldest alcoholic beverage

Chinese pottery vessels dating from 7000 B.C. suggest evidence of mead fermentation that out-ages both wine and beer. The very first batch of mead was probably a chance discovery: Early foragers likely drank the contents of a rainwater-flooded beehive that had fermented naturally with the help of airborne yeast. Once knowledge of mead production was in place, the sweet beverage became globally gulpable!

Under the weather? Take a glass of mead

No need for a mead prescription these days, but certain kinds made with herbs or spices were used medicinally in early England. Infusing herbs into a sweet mead made them more agreeable, and different varieties were thought to improve digestion, help with depression and alleviate good old-fashioned hypochondria. These types of spiced, herbal meads are called metheglin, derived from the Welsh word for medicine!

Cobblestones is growing!

Every Sunday morning, nearly 630 "Cobbles" receive their weekly dose of New Castle's comings and goings and other good and interesting stuff! Cobblestones is my "fun" project, a service to the community. There is no charge to community organizations for their listings.

Keeping the the 'community fun philosophy' Cobblestones is free of political or social issue advertising.

Space for commercial/business ads require a donation of $50 to cover time and materials. That covers four random insertions.

Ads should be a moderate size. A jpg or PDF works the best. Let me know early in the week an approx. size with a final copy Thursday. If it's just a listing for "events", please send me copy as soon as possible.

Personally, I would like to thank everyone for your interest and participation in the growing Cobblestones family. Anything I can do to help, please let me know.

Tell them you saw it in the Cobblestones
