A new crime fighter in town?

It might appear the DC Comic craze has come to town to assist our finest but it appears Wonder Woman, pictured here outside the Dollar General store at the Ferry-Cutoff, might have witnessed some five fingered shoppers in said store.

I didn't see the invisible plane however.

Coca-Cola barbecue sauce

What's different about this barbecue sauce is its main flavoring, an ingredient most people are more likely to drink than cook with: Coke!

1 c Coca Cola 🍷 3 tbsps A-1 Steak Sauce 🍷 1 c ketchup 🍷 1/2 tsp onion flakes 🍷 1/4 c Worcestershire sauce 🍷 1/2 tsp garlic flakes 🍷 1 tsp liquid smoke 🍷 1/2 tsp freshly ground black pepper

▶▶ Combine all the ingredients in a heavy, non-reactive saucepan and gradually bring to a boil over medium heat. Reduce the heat slightly to obtain a gentle simmer. Simmer the sauce until reduced by a quarter, 6 to 8 minutes.

▶▶ Use right away or transfer to a large jar, cover, cool to room temperature, and refrigerate. The sauce will keep for several months.

Use pretty much as you would any sauce, keeping in mind it has a strong affinity for chicken, ribs, and pork.

the White Russian

What would The Dude be without his bathrobe, his bowling ball and his ever-present White Russian? Jeff Bridges brought a character to life and that character's beverage of choice—made with vodka, coffee liqueur and milk—became almost as famous as The Dude himself. He drinks nine of them during the cult favorite film.

to meadow or not both sides...

Tall grass, weeds, minimal mowing and...meadows are words that have been buzzing all over town in recent weeks.

The Trustees, in an effort to reduce cost of minimal mowing, introduced Pollinator Meadows to the landscape of the City. Original sites were behind Bull Hill, Ward Triangle and Dobbinsville. Some City Council members strongly opposed the meadows, as do some citizens. The Trustees were invited to Council to present the meadow planting and that's when it appeared the planting was going to be plowed under. Council member Ted Megginson said the residents don't want them and wasn't going to vote for them. The size of the Dobbinsville proved to be the controversial point. Originally a small area had grown, encroaching on space where neighborhood children play.

Concerns included ticks, snakes and assorted native vermin. Robert Collins of Dobbinsville said his neighbors aren't opposed to the idea but that they were too close to play areas. The suggestion was made that Penn Farm would be more suitable. Mr. Wilson and Mr. DiMondi are working together on a revised Dobbinsville approach. "We are eliminating the front meadow on the south side expanding the play area and reducing the southwest side by about 3,000 sq. ft." Mr. Wilson reported to Cobblestones.

In a recent letter to the WEEKLY resident Russ Smith said, speaking of the Broad Marsh meadow, "I'm sure the meadow will bring ecological diversity to an area that serves as a gateway to New Castle. I'm sorry to hear there are folks in town who seem to be afraid of meadows." Alert Cobble Barb Winkler sent the picture on the left from Lake Heron Liverpool, Pa.

Ordained

My son Jay was ordained to the Ministry of the Jubilee Community of Asheville NC as Minister of Ritual, Counseling & Teaching last Sunday evening.

Jay was baptized in Immanuel on

The Green nearly 35 years ago. In his message to the congregation earlier Sunday, he recalled his days at Immanuel when ringing the bell. "It's not about the bell ringer, it about the bell. It's the message not the messenger". It was then he says he received the message to serve.
