Tomorrow is Constitution Day!

We the People

On September 17, 1787, the Constitution was signed. As dictated by Article VII, the document would not become binding until it was ratified by nine of the 13 states.

Beginning on December 7, five states--Delaware, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Georgia, and Connecticut--ratified it in quick succession. However, other states, especially Massachusetts, opposed the document, as it failed to reserve undelegated powers to the states and lacked constitutional protection of basic political rights, such as freedom of speech, religion, and the press. In February 1788, a compromise was reached under which Massachusetts and other states would agree to ratify the document with the assurance that amendments would be immediately proposed. The Constitution was thus narrowly ratified in Massachusetts, followed by Maryland and South Carolina. On June 21, 1788, New Hampshire became the ninth state to ratify the document, and it was subsequently agreed that government under the U.S. Constitution would begin on March 4, 1789. In June, Virginia ratified the Constitution, followed by New York in July.

On September 25, 1789, the first Congress of the United States adopted 12 amendments to the U.S. Constitution--the Bill of Rights--and sent them to the states for ratification. Ten of these amendments were ratified in 1791. In November 1789, North Carolina became the 12th state to ratify the U.S. Constitution. Rhode Island, which opposed federal control of currency and was critical of compromise on the issue of slavery, resisted ratifying the Constitution until the U.S. government threatened to sever commercial relations with the state. On May 29, 1790, Rhode Island voted by two votes to ratify the document, and the last of the original 13 colonies joined the United States. Today, the U.S. Constitution is the oldest written constitution in operation in the world.

Enjoy the evening and help St. Peter pipe organ restoration

This beautiful historic Hook & Hastings pipe organ was installed in 1883.

To date they have raised almost $60,000, and still need another $40,000 so they can have the instrument taken out of church, brought to North Carolina, and restored to its original condition.

They are hosting, along with the BBC (Brandywine Brewery Co.) in Greenville, a Guest Bartender Night on Wednesday, Oct. 3 from 6 to 9 p.m.

All tips, 100%, from the bar and dining tables will be given to the Restoration fund, in addition to 10% of total food sales. We have 18 guest bartenders from St. Peter Church pouring wine and beer from behind the bar. All are welcome and invited to support our fundraising. Not comfortable in a bar, then consider dining at a dining table.

There will be raffles for baskets of wine, and a week pass for a family to the St. Anthony Italian Festival in 2019.

Amazon wants to sell everything for Christmas right down to a giant, live tree.

This year the online retailer will sell a wide selection of living Christmas trees ranging from two to seven feet tall. The collection includes Fraser Fir, Balsam Fir, Black Hills Spruce, and Norfolk Island Pines.

An Amazon spokesperson said that some of trees will be eligible for Prime shipping, meaning members of its $119-yearly subscription program will get two-day shipping.

More details about the tree selection will be available closer to the holidays.

Bourbon Baked Apples

Stuffed with brown sugar, oats and nuts and cooked in a combination of cider and bourbon, these baked apples are an irresistible fall dessert, especially when topped with a scoop of ice cream.

For best results, choose firm apples, such as Pink Ladys, which won't collapse when baked.

6 large sweet-tart apples, such as Pink Ladys - 1/2 cup rolled oats (not instant) - 1/3 cup dark brown sugar - 2 tbsp all-purpose flour - 2 tbsp chopped pecans - 1/2 tsp ground cinnamon - 1 pinch kosher salt - 4 tbsp cold unsalted butter, cut into small cubes - 4 oz apple cider - 4 oz bourbon

Oven happy at 350°. Core the apples, leaving the bottom of each intact, then slice about 1/2 inch off the top (stem side) of each apple.

In a small bowl, combine the oats, sugar, flour, pecans, cinnamon and salt, and mix to combine. Add the cubed butter, and with your fingers, work the butter into the oat mixture until it's in pea-size pieces.

Stuff each apple with some of the mixture, mounding more of it on top, then set the apples in a baking dish.

Pour the cider and bourbon into the pan around the apples, then cover the pan with foil. Bake, covered, for 30 minutes, then uncover and bake for 15 minutes more, until the apples are soft and the topping is browned. Remove from the oven and carefully transfer the apples to a serving platter.

Pour the cider-bourbon mixture through a fine-mesh strainer into a small saucepan, and bring to a boil over high heat. Boil, monitoring carefully so it doesn't burn, until the liquid is reduced to a thick, sticky glaze. Pour over the apples.

Top each apple with a scoop of vanilla ice cream, and serve immediately. SEE THE VIDEO
