FALL LEAF PICK UP

The City does not have set dates for leaf pick-up, we take our cue from Mother Nature; when the leaves start to fall, rake them to the curb for pick up. Rake ONLY leaves to the curb, no sticks or other debris may be in leaf piles, as this may damage the machinery.

It's as simple as this: If the meat is cold, it's a Maine lobster roll. In most cases, the meat is tossed with mayonnaise, tarragon and celery or scallions before it's piled into a bun. Generally, it's served on a "New England" or "Frankfurter" roll, which differs slightly from a standard hot dog roll in that the sides are flat and can be buttered on the outside and then lightly toasted or grilled. Lobster rolls in the U.S. are most commonly associated with the state of Maine, so the cold, tossed-in-mayo iterations are easiest to come by.

Connecticut style die-hards, who believe a lobster roll served warm is simply called a "lobster roll," while a lobster roll served cold, as it is throughout most of the Northeast, is called a "lobster salad roll." Another key trait that distinguishes a Connecticut roll from a Maine roll is the dressing. Essentially, there is none with a Connecticut roll – just a side of melted butter that's used to douse the lobster meat right before taking the first bite.

DiMondi style Lobster gets my vote claws down. It's worth a bib or two and all the juy mess but sooo good!

1st lobster on his trip to Boothbay Harbor Maine

Homemade Apple Pie Vodka is as simple as letting some apples and cinnamon sticks soak in Everclear, add in some water and simple syrup, and enjoy! It has a naturally bright and spiced flavor that will leave you smiling and thinking of Fall. It's pretty much foolproof, and I have a feeling you're going to love it!

gather up

4 to 5 Granny Smith apples, sliced • 3 cinnamon sticks • Approx.. 2 cups Everclear (190-proof grain-neutral spirit) • 1 3/4 cup filtered water • 1/4 cup simple syrup

easy to make

1. Fill a 32-ounce mason jar with the sliced apples and cinnamon sticks. Use more or less apple as as needed to fill the jar all the way to the top.
2. Pour in the Everclear. (Use more or less to fill to the brim.)
3. Seal the jar and shake lightly to make sure that all of the apples are fully submerged.
4. Refrigerate for a minimum of 48 hours.
5. When ready to continue, pour through a fine mesh strainer to remove the fruit and cinnamon. Return the flavored vodka to the mason jar.

6. Pour in the simple syrup and filtered water. Stir to fully combine.

7. Seal tightly and store in the fridge until ready for use; up to 2 or 3 weeks.

Ribbon cutting at Wm Penn Learning Center

Local lawmakers and officials had the opportunity to tour William Penn HS's new, state-of-the-art learning facility last Wednesday, which will allow students to collaborate on various projects using advanced technology such as webcams and smart boards.

The school used a Discover Bank grant to convert its old second-floor library into an innovation center that features a bistro run by William Penn's culinary arts students. The goal was to closely mirror similar college spaces to help students prepare for the next phase of their education.

Everything at the Bistro is student-grown from the farm and provides them with business/work experience before they graduate.

When is the Harvest Moon in 2017?

More often than not, the September full moon is the Northern Hemisphere's Harvest Moon. The Harvest Moon is usually defined as the full moon closest to the autumn equinox, which – in the Northern Hemisphere – comes on or near September 22 each year. 2016's Harvest Moon fell in September. 2018's Harvest Moon will, too.

But, in 2017, the September 6 full moon comes too early to be the Northern Hemisphere's official Harvest Moon, according to the most widely accepted definition of the term. That's because the full moon of October 5, 2017, will fall closer to this year's September 22 equinox. The October 2017 full moon will be this year's Harvest Moon, while the September 5-6 full moon will carry its ordinary monthly full moon name of Fruit Moon in the Northern Hemisphere (and Worm Moon, Lenten Moon, Crow Moon, Sugar Moon, Chaste Moon or Sap Moon in the Southern Hemisphere).
