MEATBALL mummies

are a fun and easy meal to serve for Halloween.

meatball mummies

1 refrigerated pizza crust dough • 18 cooked meatballs (homemade or frozen & defrosted) • 6 skewers • 1 tbsp butter, melted • dipping sauce

eyeballs

small circles white cheese (mozzarella string cheese works well)

small dark circles of olives or zucchini, or BBQ sauce

(You can use different sizes of straws to cut out the circles.)

makin' mummies

1. Preheat oven to 350. Line a baking sheet with parchment paper or silicone baking mat.
2. Cut the pizza dough into thin strips, about 1/4-inch wide. (Before unrolling the dough from the can, slice it into the 1/4-inch sections. Then simply unroll the strips and start wrapping up the meatballs).
3. Thread 3 meatballs onto each skewer (or spaghetti strand, if using). This holds the meatballs in place. Wrap the dough strips around the meatballs, stretching and criss-crossing until the meatballs are covered, but leaving a small open space for the eyes. Leave the skewers in place or gently remove them (remove if using spaghetti strands).
4. Place the meatball mummies on the prepared pan. Bake 19-23 minutes, or until browned. Remove from oven, brush with melted butter and add edible eyeballs. Serve with dipping sauce: pasta sauce, BBQ sauce, etc.

Hello friends! My name is Clarence, and I am a handsome 9 year old tabby who arrived at the Brandywine Valley SPCA as a stray. I'm front declawed, so somewhere along the way I had a home. Since my arrival, I have quickly become a favorite. They all say I am a very special cat with a heart to big to measure. I'm just so grateful for any and all attention I receive. I have had it rough recently as a stray, with a few marks on my nose, but they only tell a small part of my story. I am neutered, microchipped and up to date on vaccinations. I have never met a person I didn't like, and I hope to go home with a new friend soon, so we can both live the good life together. Click HERE to learn about all my friends on South Street

The Mascot Hall of Fame will be built in Whiting, a city along Lake Michigan best known for its oil refinery and its Pierogi Fest — a weekend event in July that celebrates Polish dumplings. More than 250,000 people take part in pierogi eating contests, pierogi tosses and polkas.

David Raymond, the original Phillie Phanatic and the hall's founder, said the city 20 miles southeast of Chicago is the perfect site for two reasons: It was willing to put up $7 million for the building and its 5,000 residents embrace quirky.

"Their brand is the little wacky city that could, so they embrace the silliness of this project," Raymond said.

The idea for the hall was sparked by a 2003 incident of mascot abuse. Sports fans nationwide were shocked when Pittsburgh first baseman Randall Simon used a bat to fell one of the four Racing Sausages during a Milwaukee Brewers game in the bop heard round world.

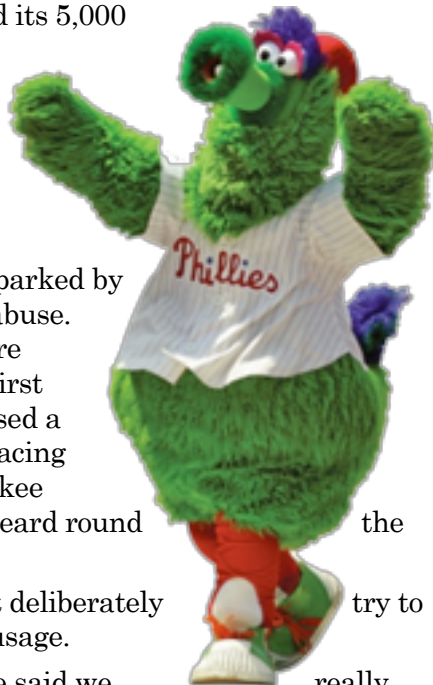

Simon, who said he did not deliberately knock down the Italian sausage.

"We as a group in our office said we should take advantage of this, have some fun with it, but also promote the fact that mascots sometimes aren't getting the respect they deserve," Raymond said.

That led to the creation of a mascot bill of rights, a mascot march in Philadelphia and the creation of the online hall. The inaugural class of the Phillie Phanatic, the Famous Chicken (aka the San Diego Chicken) and the Phoenix Gorilla was inducted in 2005.

To date, 10 pro and seven collegiate mascots have been inducted. The pro honorees include Mr. Met, KC Wolf of the Kansas City Chiefs and Rocky of the Denver Nuggets. The college legends include Ohio State's Brutus Buckeye, Wisconsin's Bucky the Badger and Tennessee's Smokey.

Not all mascots are eligible for the hall, just the fully costumed kind. Raymond said the hall organizers may recognize human and animal mascots eventually in some way. Members of the hall are selected through voting by the public online, lifetime hall voting members (comes with a $50 donation) and an executive committee.
