Penn receives the key

William Penn Day

began on a beautiful Saturday morning, with an overflowing crowd in the Court House Museum that included a tour group from Bridgeville to enjoy our town.

The morning started with Livery of Seizen reenactment.

Penn had received a grant of land from Charles II of England for the land of Pennsylvania but he received the land comprising Delaware from the King's brother, James, Duke of York. This Penn called his 3 lower counties of PA.

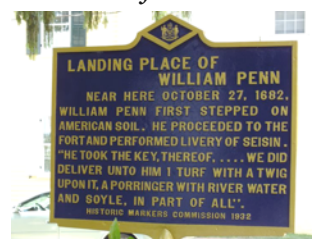

To formally claim his property he must go through an ancient English ritual of transferring land from one owner to another- this is called Livery of Seizen. The Symbols were: A handful of dirt- representing the land, Twig- representing all that grows on the land, Cup of Water - all water resources on the land, And in Penn's case - a key-representing the town and government. A Penn-full list do activities filled out the day!

YAKITORI

The word literally means "grilled chicken," but the simple name doesn't begin to describe the variety, complexity, and deep cultural significance of Japan's favorite grilled meat.

It's the ultimate finger food, easily managed by guests who are standing and/or holding beverages;

Skewers can be assembled up to 24 hours in advance and quickly grilled on demand; can be cooked on limited grill space.

For the sauce

♦ 1 cup chicken stock ♦ 1 cup soy sauce ♦ 1/2 cup mirin (sweet rice wine), sake, or dry white wine ♦ 3/4 cup sugar, plus 2 tablespoons if using sake or white wine ♦ 1 scallion, trimmed, white part gently crushed ♦ 1 clove garlic, gently crushed ♦ 1 strip lemon zest (1/2 x 2 inches)

For the yakitori

1 1/2 pounds chicken, any of the following: skinless dark meat; dark meat with skin; white meat, whatever! Toasted sesame seeds, for serving.

Step 1 Make the sauce: Place the chicken stock, soy sauce, mirin, sugar, scallion white, garlic, ginger, and lemon zest in a nonreactive saucepan and bring to a boil over medium heat. Let the tare simmer until thick and syrupy, 6 to 10 minutes, stirring often. Strain the tare into a deep narrow saucepan you can place on the grill; there must be at least 3 1/2 inches of sauce in the pot. Discard the solids.

Step 2 Cut the chicken into 1/2-inch cubes and thread it onto skewers. Fill each skewer only halfway; leave the other half bare as a handle. If you are not grilling the yakitori immediately, refrigerate them covered with plastic wrap. The yakitori can be prepared several hours ahead to this stage.

Step 3 Set up the grill for direct grilling and preheat it to high.

Step 4 When ready to cook, brush and grease the grill grate (a piece of chicken fat or skin held in tongs works great for greasing). Keep the pot of warm tare on one corner of the grill. If you are using a hibachi or other slender grill, arrange the chicken skewers on the hot grate so that the bare ends hang over the edge. On a larger grill, arrange the yakitori on the grate with an aluminum foil shield under the exposed ends of the skewers to keep them from burning.

Step 5 Grill the yakitori until the chicken is partially cooked (it will be white on the outside), about 2 minutes per side. Dip each yakitori in the sauce, then return it to the grate. Continue grilling the yakitori until the chicken is well browned and cooked through, 1 to 2 minutes per side longer. Take care that the yakitori doesn't burn.

Step 6 Dip each grilled yakitori in the sauce one more time and transfer them to a platter or plate. Sprinkle with sesame seeds and chopped scallion greens, if using, on top and serve at once. Although it's not strictly traditional, you can serve a little reserved sauce in a tiny bowl as a dipping sauce

ALL SOULS' DAY EUCHARIST

Thursday, November 2 at 7 pm

Featuring Fauré Requiem

Join us (and bring a friend!) this Thursday, November 2 for our All Souls service at 7 pm. This extraordinary experience of worship through music will feature Gabriel Fauré's Requiem, sung by the Immanuel Choir. Choir member Eric Brownstein is the baritone soloist, Dawn Proctor will sing the beloved "Pie Jesu," and Katya Linton will play the violin obbligato.

Prayer for departed souls has long been acknowledged by the Church—from references in the Old Testament (II Maccabees 12:46), to expression in public and private prayers, and in the offering of the Holy Eucharist for the repose of the souls of the dead. Fauré's uniquely personal and intimate setting of the traditional text emphasizes the theme of eternal rest, requiem aeternam.

Please call the parish office (328-2413) with the names of any departed loved ones that you wish to have remembered at the Holy Eucharist on All Souls' Day.

Smilin' Jack

On October 30 and October 31, staff at the Phillips 66 oil refinery in Wilmington (CA) will illuminate the face of Smilin' Jack—an enormous jack-o'-lantern painted on the side of an 80,000-barrel storage tank each year since 1952.

Smilin' Jack's grin is 73 feet long, while his eyes stand 18 feet tall. And, if you're curious, should the oil inside the tank be replaced with traditional pumpkin innards, you'd have enough for nearly 27 million pies.

Hulk has a mighty personality in a little body. He's a total people person with a sweet personality. This one-year old prefers to be the only dog and would do well in a home with adults and older kids. His adoption fee is "pay what you want" through Sunday, October 29.
