Bike path to connecting New Castle to Wilmington

Final Phase of the Industrial Track Trail named for Governor Markell

The start of the final and most critical segment of a trail linking Wilmington's Riverfront development to Old New Castle was celebrated today by Delaware Governor Jack Markell, U.S. Senator Tom Carper, U.S. Senator Chris Coons, Transportation Secretary Jennifer Cohan, Natural Resources and Environmental Control Secretary David Small, and other state and local officials.

Gathered at the DuPont Environmental Education Center, where the north end of the trail will start, State Representative and House Majority Leader Valerie Longhurst, led the group of dignitaries in announcing the final trail segment will be named the "Jack A. Markell Trail" in honor of the First State's Governor. Gov. Markell spearheaded a dramatic expansion of bicycle and pedestrian trails and pathways throughout Delaware during his two terms in office, including the trail begun last Wednesday. Once complete, the Jack A Markell Trail will be the "Crown Jewel" in Delaware's trail system, forming the final link in the six-mile New Castle Industrial Track Trail that joins the Wilmington Riverwalk with Old New Castle, and adding a critical segment of the 3,000-mile East Coast Greenway connecting Maine to Florida. The trail includes construction of a pedestrian/bicycle bridge crossing the Christina River and an elevated 2,300 foot-long boardwalk through the Peterson Wildlife Refuge, named for another distinguished Delaware Governor, Russell W. Peterson.

Phew..the election is finally over so we can all focus on important matters!

also known by the Pennsylvania Dutch name "pon haus", it is traditionally a mush of pork scraps and trimmings combined with commeal, wheat flour and spices. The spices may include, but are not limited to: sage, thyme, savory and black pepper. The mush is then formed into a semi-solid loaf, sliced and pan-fried.

Some of us like it thin and crisp while others prefer thick and mushy. Some use toppings include ketchup and maple syrup - it's plain in the CobbleKitchen!

Scrapple is arguably the first pork food invented in America. The immediate ancestor of scrapple was the Low German dish called panhas, which was adapted to make use of locally available ingredients and, in parts of Pennsylvania, it is still called Pannhaas, panhoss, ponhoss or pannhas.

It was in the 17th and 18th centuries that the first recipes for scrapple were created by Dutch colonists who settled near Philadelphia and Chester County, Pennsylvania. Hence the origin of its discovery, it is strongly associated with rural areas surrounding Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington D.C., eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, eastern Virginia and the Delmarva Peninsula.

roast beef

This flavorful roast is the ultimate one-pan meal, perfect for a Sunday dinner.

gather up

1 4-lb. beef sirloin, tip or even rib roast • 1-2 TB. beef spice • 1 large onion, sliced • 2-3 lbs. medium potatoes, peeled as desired and cut into bite-sized chunks • 1 lb. carrots, peeled, cut in half if thick, and chopped in 3-inch pieces • 1-2 TB. vegetable oil

directions

Preheat oven to 375°. Wash the roast and pat dry. Place the onions, potatoes and carrots in the pan, toss with oil and 1-2 tsp beef spice. Season the roast with as much beef spice, place on top of the veggies, and roast 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 350°, cook for 1 1/2-2 hours or until your desired temperature is reached and the veggies are golden and soft. Stir the vegetables every 15 minutes. Sometimes the roast is done before the veggies; pull it out and let it rest, covered with foil, while the veggies finish. Cooking time: 2 hours or so

Get in the Spirit... Be a Character!

Again this year on Sat., December 10th Old New Castle will be blending "The Spirit of Christmas" during which many of the historic homes are decorated for the season and open to the public, with "A Dickens Experience." Throughout the day, New Castle residents will be strolling the streets in Victorian attire, and scenes from Dickens' "A Christmas Carol" will be re-enacted.

Wouldn't you like to play a certain character?

We need townsfolk in period costume to meander the shops and streets, welcoming visitors while adding to the flavor of the day!

Come to "Dickens Pickins" at the New Castle Visitor Center at The Arsenal to try on and receive help with costuming.

Sat., November 5, 2016 - 2-5 pm
Sun., November 6, 2016 - 1-3 pm

Not interested in wearing a costume? The New Castle Historical Society has several other volunteer opportunities on December 9th and 10th such as, Fezziwig's Ball check-in or bartender, Victorian Tea check-in or server, dish washer, Visitor Center assistant, and Amstel House or Dutch House tour guide.
