INGREDIENTS

1 whole bone-in turkey breast, 6½ to 7 lbs - 1 tbsp minced garlic - 2 tsp dry mustard - 1 tbsp chopped fresh rosemary leaves - 1 tbsp chopped fresh sage - 1 tbsp chopped fresh thyme - 2 tsp kosher salt - 1 tsp freshly ground black pepper - 2 tbsps good olive oil - 2 tbsps freshly squeezed lemon juice - 1 cup ± dry white wine

MAKE IT

Make oven happy at 325°

Place the turkey breast, skin side up, on a rack in a roasting pan. In a small bowl, combine the garlic, mustard, herbs, salt, pepper, olive oil, and lemon juice to make a paste. Loosen the skin from the meat gently with your fingers and smear half of the paste directly on the meat. Spread the remaining paste evenly on the skin. Pour the wine into the bottom of the roasting pan.

Roast the turkey for 1¾ to 2 hours, until the skin is golden brown and an instant-read thermometer registers 165° when inserted into the thickest and meatiest areas of the breast. (Sometimes I test in several places.) If the skin is over-browning, cover the breast loosely with aluminum foil. When the turkey is done, cover with foil and allow it to rest at room temperature for 15 minutes. Slice and serve with the pan juices spooned over the turkey.

Watch how to make this recipe.

5 Minute Maple Bourbon Gravy

4 tbsps butter • ¼ cup all-purpose flour • 64 oz turkey stock (you can use chicken or beef, as well) 1 tbsp garlic powder • 1 tsp onion powder 1/2 tsp dried sage • 3 tbsps maple syrup • 2 tps

bourbon whiskey • ground pepper • kosher salt

In a medium saucepan, melt the butter over medium-high heat. Slowly whisk in the flour to create a roux. Turn the heat to low. Continue cooking until the roux begins to turn a golden brown and starts to smell nutty, approximately 1-2 minutes. Slowly whisk in the stock and stir until smooth. Stir in the garlic powder, onion powder and sage. Whisk in the maple syrup and bourbon. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Turn the heat to high and bring to a boil. Immediately turn the heat to low and simmer until thickened, approximately 1 minute. Transfer to a gravy boat and serve.

Growing up in The Castle

My family moved from Philly to New Castle in 1952, residing at 32 West 5th Street. We moved away in 1958 but I have many memories of the town. The house faced

Foundry Street with a sight line all the way to the Bowling Alley and Battery Park. Grocery shopping was convenient as next door was The Colonial Market. This closed when the Penn Treaty Market opened on Delaware Street (1955?) across from the Court House. T'was a grand event, with Chief Halftown presiding. Little Oscar and the Oscar Meyer Weinerwagon provided mini hot dogs. Other favorite stores were DeWitt's Bakery, Platt Brothers Hardware, Irma's Soda Fountain, Fay's news stand, Tobin's Meat Market, and of course, Hoy's Five & Dime. At the other end of 5th Street was the Earl Theater. Many a Saturday afternoon was spent at a double feature with cartoons and selected short subjects (either a serial or the 3 Stooges) under the watchful eye of Mrs. Kozak.

I started school at Carrie Downie in 1954. The daily trudge to school over the High Bridge was okay, except in bad weather. Mom kept us home when Hurricane Hazel blew in. No busses for the New Castle kids as we were less than a mile from school. Summers were spent at Battery Park and the adjoining marsh. Besides the slides, monkey bars, and merry-go-round, there was what we called the "Razzle-Dazzle". It was a pole with a number of chains with handles hanging from the top. Get a bunch of kids on all the chains running in a circle and they could soar. It was discovered that if one chain was draped across the others, that kid would be flung out almost horizontal from the pole as the group ran in the circle. More often than not, the kid could not hold on and was sent tumbling to the ground. For some odd reason this piece of playground equipment went out of favor in the '60s.

"A Day In Old New Castle" was a favorite event that brought lots of visitors to town. The Memorial Day Parade was highly anticipated by the boys of the town. After the rifle volley at each stop, there was a mad scramble to collect the empty brass cartridges. The Halloween party at the old Goodwill firehouse was always well attended. And Christmas had the train sets running in the window of Eliason's.

Last but not least, was the old New Castle Library. I spent a lot of time there. My library card number was 1044. This number seems to follow me around... my first paper route number was 1044, on a bike ride I once attended I was the 1044th person to register. Frequently when I look at a digital clock it is 10:44. Always reminds me of time I spent in the New Castle Library. — Felix Cartagena

Arasapha Garden Club's Wreath Making Workshop

All are welcome to participate. You do not have to be a member of Arasapha to make the wreaths that adorn New Castle over the Holiday Season. We will also show you how to make the wreaths if you have never made one before. It is a great way to spend some time with your neighbors while getting into the Spirit (of Christmas that is). We always have great snacks like Heady's rum cake and we usually have pizza for lunch on Wednesday.

Please join us and get the thrill of seeing your wreath creation on one of the windows or doors around town.

We will also have wreaths available for sale.

"Make and take" – you make it and take it with you
– we supply the wreath and materials – $25

Premade wreaths – you purchase a wreath already decorated – $35

You can order in advance or come by on Thursday before 11 am. To order in advance or if you have any questions please call
