Save Our Summer Concerts

A committee of interested members of the community has been formed to help ensure that the summer concert series, so popular with residents and visitors in the summertime months, continues uninterrupted.

Typically consisting of six to eight programs spanning June, July and August, funding was traditionally provided by The New Castle Hundred Lions Club through a grant from the Trustees of the New Castle Commons.

Jim Travers, whose mother started the concert series 50 years ago, has spearheaded this committee of local residents wanting to see the concert continue. His brother also hosted the event for many years, and Jim has a deep-seated commitment to the series continuation. "The summer concert series is a defining event for New Castle, with people from all over bringing blankets and chairs to sit on the Battery enjoying a free evening of music," said Travers.

If you're interested in helping Save Our Concerts, contact Jim at ➔ jtraversnc1@verizon.net

Reedy Point Bridge will remain open on all but four weekends this summer, after the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers revised its repair schedule. They promised to avoid conflicts with major tourism-related events such as Delaware City

Day and NASCAR race days at Dover Downs. The bridge will still need to remain fully closed for two, 19-day periods — one this summer, one this fall — each including two consecutive weekends.

THIS MORNING 10AM

Join the Parish of Immanuel

Episcopal Church at a reception, following the 10 o'clock service, for the Stonesifers, Sun., March 25th as Fr. Stonesifer moves to Middletown, Delaware to serve as Interim Rector at St. Anne's.

Dyngus Day Mon., April 9th is the day after Easter, and often features Easter egg rolls. It is not a federal holiday in the US, but is in other cultures, including Poland where it is called Dyngus (Splash) Day, when children traditionally play water games. Historically a Polish-American tradition, Dyngus Day celebrates the end of the often restrictive observance of lent and the joy of Easter. Over the decades, Dyngus Day has become a wonderful holiday to celebrate Polish-American culture, heritage and traditions. → Dyngus Day

Look out, it's Mosquito Control

With the early arrival of warm weather, DNREC's Mosquito Control Section has begun its annual spring woodland-pool spraying, treating wooded wetlands near populated areas in New Castle, Kent and Sussex counties. Approximately 7,000 to 10,000 acres with woodland pools where early season mosquitoes breed in quantity will be strategically larvicided by helicopter and possibly airplanes.

As in the past, advance public notice of when and where spraying will occur this year will be given daily via radio announcements, by calling 800-338-8181 toll-free, or by visiting the Mosquito Control website. You may also sign up for email mosquito control spray announcements by going to the DNREC website and following directions for receiving the notices.

The diameter of Venus is 12092 km (only 650 km less than the Earth's) and its mass Most planets also rotate counter-clockwise, but Venus rotates clockwise (Since Venus is normally associated with women, what does this tell you!) (That women are going the 'right' direction...?)

the hole truth

Recently during attitude adjustment hour at the local, my friends, who happen to be golfers, were pondering the question, "why do full-length golf courses have 18 holes, and not 20, or 10 or an even dozen?" How many of you golfers know the answer to this one?

One friend told this story...
 "During a discussion among the club's membership board at St. Andrews in 1858, one of the members pointed out that it takes exactly 18 shots to polish off a fifth of Scotch. By limiting himself to only one shot of Scotch per hole, the Scot figured a round of golf was finished when the Scotch ran out".

Now who wouldn't drink to that! Wait a minute, hold that divot!

The folks at Snopes report:

Although this bit of lore about soused Scots limiting themselves to one slurp at the flask per hole has its charm, it does not have history on its side. The number of holes comprising a standard golf course was not determined by the amount of Scotch in a bottle. Games similar to golf have been around since Roman times, and golf was being played at Scotland's famed Old Course at St. Andrews, the oldest extant golf course in the world, at least as far back as 1552. (Early Scottish versions of the game were called "golf" even though the game itself was not at that time all it would finally become.) However, golf wasn't always as regulated as it is now: Prior to standardization, early courses had any number of holes from five to twenty-four, and only over a long period of time did the game evolve to the point that eighteen became the standard number of holes for courses all over the world. But couldn't that number still be tied to a hip flask, you say? Not unless the bottle shrank. Originally, the Old Course at St. Andrews had only 12 holes, 10 of which were played over the same set of fairways both out and back, for a grand total of 22 holes per round. (That is, two of the holes were played once per round, while the other ten holes were each played twice per round, for a total of 22 holes per round.) In 1764, the Old Course's first four holes were combined into two holes, and from then on a round of golf at St. Andrews consisted of playing the now-standard total of 18 holes.

So there you have it- no drunken Scots at all

Chicken Tagine

ingredients

- 3 lbs chicken
- 16 oz dark chicken stock or reduced chicken broth by half
- 8 oz wild mushrooms
- 8 oz boiled fingerling potatoes
- 6 oz pearl onions
- 6 oz green pitted olives
- 2 oz brandy
- Salt and pepper to taste
- Chopped shallots for garnish
- Chopped parsley for garnish

instructions

- Preheat a pan with olive oil.
- Sear the chicken skin side down on medium high fire until golden brown, for approximately 5 minutes.
- Then turn it, add the pearl onions, mushrooms and olives. Sauté them together until the mushrooms start sweating then remove the pan from the stove, add the brandy and carefully put it back on fire.
- After the alcohol burns out add the chicken broth, increase the fire to high until the sauce reaches a boiling point, then cover the pan and put it in a preheated oven at 450F for 25min.
- After 20min, cut the boiled fingerling potatoes in halves and sauté them in a pan with olive oil, shallots and parsley. Remove the pan with the chicken from the oven.
- Plate the chicken, onions, mushrooms and olives then add the fingerling potatoes on the top.

Serve and enjoy.

Yes, it seems

Mother Nature has given us a downsized winter season and now we're blessed with spring breezes and the urge to get started with our favorite pastimes, which for many includes getting out on the water. Be it power or under sail many of us can't wait to get out on the water.

The State offers a simplified boating safety education course which is required.

Welcome Delaware Boaters!

This handbook is published by Boat Ed, the official provider of Delaware's boating safety course. Although this handbook is a convenient reference tool, students wanting to receive official Delaware boating safety certification would benefit from studying Boat Ed's comprehensive boat safety course.

All boating safety course material has been developed in conjunction with the Delaware Division of Fish and Wildlife, and is the same material used in their classroom courses. Take the official Delaware boating safety course.

In This Handbook Boating Basics includes: vessel length and capacity, fueling, navigational rules, U.S. Aids to Navigation, and personal watercraft (PWC) basics.

It's the Law includes: registration information, registration fees, display of numbers, legal operating age, required equipment, unlawful operation, boating under the influence, reporting accidents, enforcement, environmental restrictions, and laws governing PWC and vessels towing skiers.

Delaware Fish & Wildlife Department enforcement officers patrol our waterways to make your boating experience safe and pleasant. Cooperate with them by following the suggestions outlined in this manual as well as the rules of common courtesy while operating your boat.
